The Office of Theatre Education maintains an up-to-date version of this handbook on Canvas, for enrolled students. INTRODUCTION

UNCG's Theatre Education program has a long and distinguished history going back over fifty-five years. In the fall of 1997, the UNCG Theatre Education program officially became North Carolina's first specific Theatre Education concentration for Bachelor of Fine Arts (B.F.A.) in Drama.

This handbook is designed to provide information about important aspects of the undergraduate Theatre Education degree program. It will act as a guide for students who are planning to earn a B.F.A. degree in Drama, concentrated to Theatre Education, with initial North Carolina Standard Professional 1 (SP1) K-12 licensure in Theatre Arts. Students enrolled in the program should read the revised handbook each year for changes that may affect them. Education-related programs are subject to review and revision by the government, so theatre education students must stay abreast of such changes from one year to the next. Students should also stay current with the Teacher Education Handbook found online within UNCG's School of Education website.

DIRECTION

READ THIS HANDBOOK COMPLETELY. Theatre Education students must read this handbook thoroughly and continually refer to the checklists and additional requirements. Students are ultimately responsible for their progress in the program and should meet with their advisor a minimum of twice a year. They are required to attend all majors meetings of Theatre Education majors held each year, most often during the second week of classes.

In addition to this handbook, students should also be familiar with the Undergraduate Bulletin published during the academic year in which they were admitted to UNCG.

The Director of Theatre Education, Mr. Joshua Purvis, serves as official advisor to all Theatre Education students and Supervising Teacher for student teaching assignments. The Office of Theatre Education is located in 024 Taylor [directly outside the Taylor Elevator on the (G)round floor]. The mobile office number is (336) 517-7878, but due to a heavy clinical observation schedule, emails to jtpurvis@uncg.edu tend to have a faster response.

Welcome to UNCG, to the College of Visual and Performing Arts, and to the School of Theatre.

And welcome to the Theatre Education.

UNCG SCHOOL OF EDUCATION MISSION

UNCG is guided by the belief that our work must ensure

Accessibility to Life's Opportunities through Teaching, Learning and Caring

To achieve this overarching goal, we focus on

Leadership

Professional Knowledge

Professional Practice

Educational Environment

Data-driven Decision Making

Professional Growth

Mission Statement

The mission of professional education at The University of North Carolina at Greensboro is to ensure "Access to Opportunities through Teaching, Learning and Caring." This requires excellence in all our programs through alignment to state and national standards; explicit connections between research, theory and practice; candidates' acquisition of the knowledge, skills and dispositions of their disciplines; detailed evaluation of our candidates' continual professional growth; collaboration among stakeholders; ongoing self-study; and an overriding commitment to fostering beliefs and actions that promote education for all. Toward these ends, our Unit and programs focus on six areas: leadership, professional knowledge, professional practice, educational environments, data-informed decision making, and professional growth to support the learning of all children in the context of 21st century complexity and dynamic change.

Working in tandem with the School of Education, the UNC Greensboro School of Theatre educates and trains students as professional artists in performance, design and technology, theatre for youth, and theatre education. Our rigorous B.A., B.F.A., and M.F.A. programs produce exemplary theatre artists with the knowledge, skills, and vision to work professionally in the performing arts.

CONTEXT, GOALS, AND OBJECTIVES

B.F.A. Degree in Drama, concentration in Theatre Education

With Standard Professional 1 (SP1) Teaching Licensure in K-12 Theatre Arts

CONTEXT

The program prepares qualified undergraduates to become effective professional Theatre educators at the elementary (K-5), middle school (6-8), and secondary (9-12) levels. Theatre Education students learn about Theatre as a distinct discipline and art form, yet they also explore the use of specific theatre-based techniques in teaching other disciplines. Though it may extend their time at UNCG, Theatre Education majors are encouraged to take additional course work towards minoring in areas such as English, Math, or Spanish, as additional areas of study may increase students' employment potential as they search for their first teaching position.

The program has two primary goals: first, to establish in students a solid foundation in all areas of specialization in Theatre Arts; and second, to prepare competent, highly qualified, and dedicated teachers through study of professional education, identification of best practices in Theatre Education, development of a personal teaching philosophy, and active engagement in the K-12 school environment. Within this context, the following goals and objectives guide the UNCG Theatre Education program:

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: GPA AND GRADES

TARGET for EVERY SEMESTER**

Theatre Education students must maintain at least a 3.0 Grade Point Average (GPA) before being admitted into Teacher Education. Application is made at end of sophomore year. After students are accepted into Teacher Education, the required 3.0 GPA must be maintained throughout the program of study. Students may not earn less than a C- in courses-in-the-major, including both Theatre and Education courses. If a grade below a C- is earned in a course within the major, that course must be retaken until the minimum grade requirement is met. Additionally, students must earn at least a B- in THR 482 Teaching Methods in Theatre Arts.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: FIELD EXPERIENCE

TARGET for EVERY YEAR**

Theatre Education students must accumulate a minimum of 100 verified hours of pre-student-teaching observation and field experience hours. These hours will be scheduled in cooperation with Abigail Hart and the Office of Theatre Education.

Students may not accrue hours from the high school they attended. Students should read the Field Experience Visitation Guidelines handout before their first visitation.

Required Documentation for Field Experience

ALL THEATRE EDUCATION STUDENTS MUST MAINTAIN A CURRENT BACKGROUND CHECK ON FILE WITH THE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION IN ORDER TO COMPLETE FIELD WORK IN ANY CAPACITY. The BIB Background Check required by the School of Education is mandatory for all UNCG students BEFORE entering any K-12 instructional institution. Any other background check cannot be substituted for having a BIB Background Check on file. Theatre Education students should complete this background check within the first weeks of their first semester entering the program. This background check will remain active for the duration of all internship and field experience at UNCG. The cost for this background check in 2018 was $23.50. Background Checks are coordinated by Abigail Hart and the instructions for completion of a background check can be found on the attached website above.

ALL THEATRE EDUCATION STUDENTS MUST MAINTAIN A CURRENT GCS VOLUNTEER PROFILE WITH GUILFORD COUNTY SCHOOLS IN ORDER TO COMPLETE FIELD WORK IN GUILFORD COUNTY SCHOOLS. Theatre Education students should complete a GCS Volunteer Form within the first weeks of their first semester entering the program. This form will then be renewed each semester once a student's field experience site has been confirmed. Make sure to keep a copy of your login/password for your records as this registration will carry through to multiple years. Majors should specify UNC Greensboro for Business/Organization and list the following schools for the “pick 4” section: Weaver Academy, Grimsley High (You will update these selections each year with different schools). Students should also tick the “Art/Drama/Music” box (and others, as interest dictates, such as “Reading Buddy” would give you more one-on-one instruction time with at-risk students). Please note that failure to update a GCS Volunteer Form may result in prevention from entering the school since all GCS front office staff have access to this information. GCS Volunteer Forms are coordinated by Abigail Hart and students may access the form by clicking the attached link above.

All Theatre Education Students must have professional liability insurance on file in order to complete field work in any capacity. Liability Insurance is automatically applied to a Theatre Education student once declaring the Theatre Education major and will be applied each semester as long as the student remains in Theatre Education. The amount of $7.50 is attached to a student's UNCG account and covers the student with liability insurance of up to $2 million dollars of legal support. Professional Liability Insurance is coordinated by Abigail Hart. No action by a student needs to occur in order to receive this benefit and requirement.

Field Experience Observations

Students are required to keep a journal of all field experience hours, which include dates, times, and activities observed. This journal should be used to complete the Field Experience Hours Record (FEHR) Sheet (available on Canvas). This record sheet will officially document the breadth of a student's field experience. In order to be credited, all field experience hours must be documented. Signatures of the on-site supervisors (principals or teachers) for the field experience are required.

All hours must be documented by the dated signature of either the assigned teacher or principal at the school site. Signatures must be in ink. Students must have acquired a minimum of 35 hours of pre-student-teaching experience before applying for official admission into Teacher Education.

Special Note: Classroom observation is much more limited in the spring semesters, due to student teacher placements. It is in the best interest of the THRED candidate to secure provided observation time as early-and-often as possible, and to seek approval for additional field experience opportunities that present themselves.

If you are planning to acquire summer hours after this deadline, you may include your plan, contact person and anticipated totals on your Annual Faculty Review form (not your FEHR sheet). This plan might include summer camp counseling or internships. Remember that you will need to document any May-August field experience on a FEHR sheet for when you return in the fall, and that visits to your hometown high school do not count toward field experience.

These should also be submitted digitally on Canvas through the "Assignments" section under their respective headings:

Field Experience Hours - Year 1 = freshmen/transfer

Field Experience Hours - Year 2 = sophomores,

Field Experience Hours - Year 3 = juniors/scenic seniors,

Field Experience Hours - Final Year = graduating seniors

Field Experience Topic Essays

To articulate the depth of the experiences: freshmen, sophomores, and juniors will be assigned specific topics upon which to focus their observations and must submit a Field Experience Topic Essay.

Papers must be double-spaced, in 11 or 12 point font. Margins should be 1 inch all around. No handwritten papers will be accepted. The paper should be a minimum of 3 pages in length, double-spaced, and submitted to the Director of Theatre Education by the assigned deadline. Papers written in response to teaching for THR 415 or to document the TED 445/545 practicum/internship experience may be substituted in lieu of the focus topic essay (this usually happens in the third year). The April due date for the papers will be announced on Canvas as part of the Annual Faculty Review process.

Writing the Field Topic Paper: Field Topic Paper Guidelines and Starter Questions.docx available through Canvas.

When completed in the form of a proofread, final draft, these papers should be submitted digitally on Canvas through the "Assignments" section under their respective headings:

Field Experience Topic Paper Year 1 = freshmen/transfers,

Field Experience Topic Paper Year 2 = sophomores,

Field Experience Topic Paper Year 3 = juniors.

Field Experience Topic Paper - "Scenic Year" \(if necessary\) - scenic seniors.

Field Experience breakdown by year (suggested)

Freshmen

Usually, the ten (10) hours of observation are done in the fall semester of the freshman year; however, scheduling issues may require hours to be spread over two semesters, with students completing half of the hours in the fall semester and the other half in the spring semester. Placements are often secured at Weaver Academy, which is an arts magnet high school within walking distance. However, students are strongly encouraged to observe at elementary schools, such as Morehead.

Sophomores (and 1st year Transfer students)

Sophomores complete their twenty (25) field experience hours during the academic year, preferably at middle or high school. Transfer students should complete 35 hours to stay on pace.

Juniors

Juniors complete thirty (30) hours of field experience in the fall semester. However, some of the hours may be completed through practicum hours required for TED 545 Diverse Learners/TED 445 Human Diversity, Teaching, & Learning or THR 515 Drama in Education. Juniors should document these hours as they would any other field experience, but may include professor-generated report sheets as the official signature of the experience. Juniors should supplement these practicum hours with observations toward any deficient grade range (i.e. if one has primarily observed high school and elementary, one should target middle school)

“Scenic Route” Seniors

Some students elect to complete the Theatre Education program in five years, rather than in four, due to a variety of reasons, including: studying abroad, taking additional course work towards one or more minors, or supplementing study in one or more areas of specialization within the major. Occasionally, a student’s decision to study abroad may result in a break in course sequencing. If students need an additional year at UNCG, they must supplement their field experience hours with an additional thirty (30) hours.

Year	Total Hours for Benchmark
Freshman year	10
Sophomore year	25
Junior year	30 (includes TED 545/445 and/or THR 515 hrs.)
“Scenic Route“	30 Fall of 1st senior year (only for five-year seniors)
Senior year (fall)	35 (provided in THR 482, fall; excludes student teaching) (30 hours per additional year attending UNCG, beyond fourth year)

Classes with Required Field Experience Hours

The hours earned in the following courses must be still documented on the Field Experience Hours Record Sheet, unless otherwise approved.

THR 415 (DRAMA IN EDUCATION)

This class offers a supervised practicum consisting of leading groups of children in creative dramatic or drama-in-education activities in a surrounding local school, usually an elementary school. Documentation of field experience hours should be recorded on the Field Experience Hours Record Sheet that must be signed by the professor, Rachel Briley, or the K-12 classroom teachers. THR 415 is typically only offered in the fall semester. Students must complete THR 415 before taking THR 482 Teaching Methods

TED 445 (Human Diversity in Teaching and Learning) or 545 (DIVERSE LEARNERS)

If there is field experience associated with this course, and Theatre Education students may apply the TED 445/545 hours-in-the-field to their required thirty (30) hours of pre-student teaching field experience hours. It is the students’ responsibility to bring documentation of these hours to the Director of Theatre Education. Students must complete TED 445/545 before taking THR 482 Teaching Methods.

THR 482 (TEACHING METHODS IN THEATRE ARTS)

Includes internship field experiences in which Theatre Education students work with experienced K-12 Theatre Arts teachers in the classrooms that include elementary, middle school, high school levels. While the THR 482 class meets three hours each week for lecture, internships are scheduled for two mornings a week, with students going out into the surrounding schools on those mornings. Internship teaching days are usually scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday mornings, from 7:30 a.m. until noon; however, when enrollments demand extra time, Monday and Wednesday mornings may be scheduled for teaching internships as well. Students must anticipate this factor in the design of their schedules and plan accordingly.

The amount of time, energy, and preparation required to successfully complete the internship must be taken into consideration. Theatre Education students should plan ahead and avoid overloading themselves. The internship plays an important role in preparing students for their student teaching experience. It serves as a laboratory in which students synthesize and apply knowledge from theatre courses, liberal arts studies, and professional education courses. In order to student teach, a student must earn a "B-" or better in THR 482. All contact with, and scheduling of, internship schools is handled by the Director of Theatre Education. THR 482 is only offered in the fall semester, and it should be taken immediately prior to student teaching in the spring.

Summer Field Experience Hours

Summer field experience hours must be approved in advance by the Director of Theatre Education. Students must submit a request-in-writing and include a detailed description of opportunity, complete with supervisors' contact information and rationale as to why the experience will contribute to the student's diverse range of field experiences. Students are encouraged to document their summer field experience hours by submitting digital photographs from the experience to be put in their advising files. The number of field experience hours credited to the UNCG student will be determined by the Director of Theatre Education after the experience is completed and may be capped. Summer and supplemental experience may not substitute for more than 15% of the total 100 required hours. The bulk of a student's field experience must take place in a public K-12 school with a licensed theatre teacher.

Field Experience Supplements

There will be additional opportunities for field experience that do not include classroom observation, but will provide relevant experience toward in-service teaching. Such experiences might include: publicity events, tutoring, directing at City Arts, theatre-based outreach, UNCG Backstage, youth workshops, etc. These experiences may not be used as a complete substitute for public classroom observation/analysis, and will likely be capped to remain as supplemental enrichment.

The one standing ground rule is that students may not gain field experience credit from activities that take place at the high school they attended.

Breakdown of Percentage

Time Factor: Often in order to regulate the amount of supplemental experience that is counted in ratio to field experience hours in a traditional setting, the time will be accounted for in percentage:

5% of total hours taken when a student earns above 300 hours of supplemental experience

10% of total hours taken where a student earns 200-300 hours of supplemental experience

12% of total hours taken where a student earns 100-200 hours of supplemental experience

15% of total hours taken where a student earns 50-100 hours of supplemental experience

20% of total hours taken where a student earns below 50 hours of supplemental experience

Function of Student: A student's role during the supplemental hours can determine the weight that the supplemental hours hold

5% - Student is observing and is not in a leadership role in any capacity

10% - Student is in a shared leadership

20% - Student is in a sole leadership role in which they are the primary leader

50% - Student is in a leadership role where the content is constructed by the student and they are the sole leader Short Tales = Always taken at 50%

Students are encouraged to consult with the Director of Theatre Education regarding additional supplementation.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: ASSISTANT STAGE MANAGER (ASM) EXPERIENCES

TARGET during JUNIOR YEAR *****

(and some majors will take THR 386 during their sophomore year)

BFA Theatre Education students are required to complete crew assignments during both Stage Crafts classes and required to complete a stage management responsibility under the THR 494 Theatre Practicum: Production course heading during their junior year. Students will also complete a THR 386 Introduction to Stage Management course during the spring of their sophomore or junior year (as the course is only offered on rotation every other spring), but THR 386 does not have to be taken before applying for a THR 494 ASM assignment.

ASMs have the privileged position of observing-and-recording many facets of production, including how production meetings run, SM duties/language, directing duties/language, actor rituals/entitlement, board op duties/language, and collaboration with many other artists. It is the most singular experience we have for taking in the macro of production work, which you will be coordinating in a K-12 teaching job.

If there is even a small chance that you are self-selecting out of the Theatre Education concentration, please do not request an assignment, as mid-process replacements throw off the entire production matrix. Instead, make an appointment with the Director of Theatre Education to discuss your direction and options.

1. Stage management assignments are made by the Production Manager in the late spring, after the announcement of the upcoming season. Students must submit a Google Form application for a stage management assignment, the same form used by design and technical theatre majors for requesting design or technical positions. As of 2014, the application form's link is sent through the Green Room listserv by the Coordinator of Stage Management or the Production Manager.
2. On the application, the show-by-show requests (where you check the boxes of shows for which you wish to be considered), should primarily be processed with your availability in mind (as opposed to your preference, which you request later in the form). The only boxes that should be unchecked are ones that you physically cannot work (e.g. you have to attend a wedding during the latter part of the rehearsal process, you have a required evening class, etc.). I would label these as "dealbreakers" (i.e. you would risk not being given an assignment rather than working the show and being unavailable for most of it). Do remember that having one conflict may not be a dealbreaker, especially if you can express it now (in the last cell of the form).
3. Therefore, your preference is stated solely in the second-to-last cell of the form, with the question "Is there a specific show on which you absolutely want to work?" Remember, that your well-reasoned rationale carries a lot of weight--and "I love the show" is not a very vocationally-driven reason. Instead, here is where you should articulate things like scheduling (of education modules, directing practicums, etc.) and experiences you may have had in the past (e.g. "I worked a Taylor show last year, and would really like to work a POP show in a smaller space"). To that end, the production team tries to create opportunity (within their means) to maximize diverse experiences within each student's two assignments, as opposed to placing them within overtly similar experiences (e.g. working on a Taylor musical two years in a row). While this consideration is not always possible, given the needs of the SM program, it will often explain why a student's primary request was not honored.

4. Students must complete a Stage Management workshop held in the beginning of the fall semester in which they have been assigned an ASM position. Students with a spring ASM position may have a separately scheduled workshop.
5. Students receive one-semester-hour credit by enrolling in THR 494 Practicum (Production) for the semester in which they are scheduled to do their assistant stage management assignment.
6. It is every theatre education major's individual responsibility to monitor the Green Room and follow through with pursuing additional program requirements. Before making a request, please look carefully through your plans for next year. Ken White does well to take your requests/schedules into account, but the last thing any of us want is for you to be granted an assignment only to have a separate commitment get in the way of you fulfilling your responsibility. Upon making these requests, you should be prepared to commit to them as though they were a professional booking.
7. Chip Haas announces these position assignments over the summer through the Green Room, so make sure to read the "production assignments" email that he sends out after the decisions have been made. Please make it a habit to review changes each time he updates the assignments, each and every time until you graduate. Even if you think you have completed all ASM positions (soph-senior), your name may have carried over from a previous list. Additionally, personnel changes may necessitate changes in your assignment. The bottom line is: the production assignment listing updates, sent by Chip Haas, are the primary means of communication to THRED majors, so beware of overlooking them.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: THR 485 DIRECTING PRACTICUM

TARGET proposal form during Directing I, in order to conduct project the semester after Directing I**

For a two-page perusal packet of guidelines and proposal: THR 485 Directing Practicum form 2pages.docx

After taking THR 410 Directing I, students register to complete a Directing Practicum (THR 485 - 1 sem. hour credit). This practicum is intended as the best possible utilization of departmental time-and-resources in order to practice and demonstrate proficiency in directing a full piece. Students are provided with a space and a time limit, and are charged to conduct as full a simulation of the production process as possible within these means. For all guidelines regarding the THR 485 Directing Practicum, please see the Directing Practicum Guidelines.

A proposal form for THR 485 must be completed and approved in advance by the Director of Theatre Education who serves as instructor of record for THR 485.

Students may arrange supervision from another faculty member who should supervise the THR 485 project, though this will require signed permission from both the Director of Theatre Education and the alternate faculty supervisor.

Students are encouraged to meet with their Directing I professor and with other performance faculty members who are familiar with their work to gather suggestions for their directing practicum project. Ideally, the project should address the continued development of specific directing skills identified in Directing I. Towards that end, the script should be selected according to the feedback the student receives.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: AUDITIONS

TARGET ONCE EACH YEAR**

All BFA Theatre Education majors are required to complete a minimum of four (4) season auditions, in either the fall or spring semester, during the four years they are at UNCG. Students who require an extra year in the program must do five season auditions. Theatre Education majors are encouraged to audition for Monday Workshop performances; however, Monday Workshop auditions may not be substituted for the season audition requirements.

In the past, majors have expressed to a worry about auditioning due to fear-of-being-cast (e.g. scheduling does not allow for acceptance of a role, due to other evening commitments, ASM assignments, or coursework overloads). There are two ways students can help their situation, and still go through the audition process. Students are encouraged to do both:

1. When you submit your online resume to the Production Manager, briefly specify your circumstances in large, bold letters at the top. Something like, "DO NOT WISH TO BE CONSIDERED FOR A ROLE - FALL 2013. AUDITIONING TO FULFILL A THEATRE ED PROGRAM REQUIREMENT."
2. When you introduce yourself, during the cattlecall audition, briefly draw the directors' attention toward your self-removal from consideration. Something like, "Hello, my name is Suzie Creamcheese. As you'll see on my resume, I do not wish to be considered for a role this semester, but I am auditioning to fulfill a theatre ed requirement. Thank you for your time." Then perform your audition package to the best of your ability and thank them again.

Both of these options are efficient ways to state your business, gain the experience associated with the process, and keep working. These scheduling overlaps should not keep you from auditioning, but will necessitate your communication to the Production Manager (and directors) that you are "only auditioning this semester to fulfill a theatre education program requirement."

Begin obtaining signatures on an Audition Record Sheet during your first season audition at UNCG: AUDITION RECORD SHEET.docx

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: ANNUAL FACULTY REVIEWS

TARGET for EVERY YEAR**

All BFA Theatre Education students are required to complete an Annual Faculty Review at the end of each spring semester, beginning in the freshman year. Students are responsible for completing the required paperwork by the posted April deadline, which will be released as a Canvas announcement.

A committee of theatre department faculty members, chaired by the Director of Theatre Education, will meet with students to conduct a 10-15 minute feedback session. Students identified with problems in their progress may require a follow-up faculty review, either with the committee or with the Director of Theatre Education, held during spring exams or during the fall semester of the following academic year. These students must have satisfactorily addressed any problems identified during the annual faculty reviews by the scheduled follow-up reviews, or they may be advised into another degree program or dropped from the Theatre Education concentration, if appropriate.

Documents required for the reviews include the BFA Annual Faculty Review form, the signed Field Experience Hours Record Sheet, and any outstanding Field Experience Topic Essays. (see previous section on “Field Experience”)

Annual Faculty Review Form

Annual Faculty Review Forms should be uploaded to the (ORG)Office-of-Theatre-Education Canvas site by the specified due date that will be determined by Josh Purvis and Announced via Canvas Announcements. Submit digitally to Canvas under the "Assignments" section, for your respective year:

Annual Faculty Review Year 1= freshmen/transfers.

Annual Faculty Review Year 2 = sophomores,

Annual Faculty Review Year 3 = juniors/scenic seniors

with the following filename: lastname_firstname_AFR_SP20xx. The Office of Theatre Education will compile these e-copies and distribute to faculty committee members. Those that have gone through reviews before should simply be able to cut-and-paste to last year's form, adding updates for this year.

Field Experience Hours Sheet

Students are required to keep a journal of all field experience hours, which include dates, times, and activities observed. This journal should be used to complete the Field Experience Hours Record Sheet.  This record sheet will officially document the breadth of a student's field experience. In order to be credited, all field experience hours must be documented. Signatures of the on-site supervisors (principals or teachers) for the field experience are required.

All hours must be documented by the dated signature of either the assigned teacher or principal at the school site. Signatures must be in ink. Students must have acquired a minimum of 35 hours of pre-student-teaching experience before applying for official admission into Teacher Education.

If you are planning to acquire summer hours after this deadline, you may include your plan, contact person and anticipated totals on your AFR form (not your FEHR sheet). This plan might include summer camp counseling or internships. Remember that you will need to document any May-August field experience on a FEHR sheet for when you return in the fall, and that visits to your hometown high school do not count toward field experience.

These should also be submitted digitally on Canvas through the "Assignments" section under their respective headings:

Field Experience Hours - Year 1 = freshmen/transfer

Field Experience Hours - Year 2 = sophomores,

Field Experience Hours - Year 3 = juniors/scenic seniors,

Field Experience Hours - Final Year = graduating seniors

2nd & 3rd Year Reviews

A committee of three theatre department faculty members, chaired by the Director of Theatre Education, will meet with students in the Pam & David Sprinkle Building faculty conference room. Students identified with problems in their progress in the program may require a follow-up faculty review, either with the committee or with the Director of Theatre Education, held during the fall semester of the following academic year. These students must have satisfactorily addressed any problems identified during the annual faculty reviews by the scheduled follow-up reviews, or they may be advised into another degree program or dropped from the Theatre Education program, if appropriate.

There may be as many as four faculty members in the room during your review (except for 1st-year students, where it will just be Josh Purvis). We will ask each candidate a general statement like "How are you processing this year for yourself?" Please think through an articulation of at least one specific thing of which you consider your biggest area-of-growth and at least one specific challenge on which you are working. Try and consolidate your thoughts into a 2-3 minute statement of purpose (Feel free to bring a note card if it helps you). Answering "pretty good" doesn't say much in the short time we have allotted. While the faculty tries to curb the stressful formality of these meetings, often it can be at the expense of a candidate's specificity, of which we are ultimately charged.

After your statement, relevant faculty committee members will speak for a minute or two about the main things that they have noticed from their perspective. This may be specific to their classes or may be general feelings they have as to your potential as a student teaching candidate. If a follow-up meeting is required, the Director of Theatre Education will notify you by the beginning of exams.

Since we will be moving very quickly, there will not be time for verbal responses to faculty remarks. Please record any feedback you receive, so that you may process it fully and follow up appropriately.

1st Year Reviews

1st-year majors should conduct a thorough compare-and-contrast analysis of your written qualifying paper (which, at the very minimum, should include an out-loud reading of it word-for-word, on your own) to multiple viewings of your own PW “Origins” video. During your short interview, we will openly discuss what you are self-identifying and how the combination of written credibility and oral presentation combine to affect your candidacy within the program. This interview/discussion will take place solely between you and the Director of Theatre Education, but should include a high level of critical thinking before you enter the room. While no written analysis is required for this review, it would behoove you to speak from a list of items you have noted (which may include page/¶ numbers for your QP and/or timestamps from your “Origins” video).

You are encouraged to access the Canvas “assignments” and determine if you need technology support from Abigail Hart. For everything else, please let me know immediately if you have any questions or concerns.

Begin compiling-and-updating Annual Faculty Review form during April of your first year: Annual Faculty Review Form.doc

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: FIRST YEAR QUALIFYING PAPER

TARGET submission to Director of Theatre Education by January of first spring semester**

Most students will begin completing this requirement before arriving at UNCG, potentially as part of the UNCG admissions process.

Both incoming freshmen and transfer students, will be required to submit a 4-6 page narrative paper entitled “The Origins of My Journey into Theatre Education” which should serve as a formal articulation of:

1. Up to two pages of autobiography which include short anecdotes related to how the author was inspired to become a teacher.
2. A persuasive argument as to what skills and strengths the author possesses which would make them an excellent educator in the field of theatre.
3. A comprehensive analysis of the weaknesses and gaps in knowledge the author would like to address during their studies at UNCG and how they will supplement their coursework in these areas.

In order for the Director of Theatre Education to endorse your application to Teacher Education, a candidate must demonstrate a commitment to public school education as well as the means to articulate how their commitment will shape them as students within the School of Theatre at UNCG. Much as a performance audition demonstrates potential for a career in acting, or a portfolio demonstrates potential for design/production, this formal paper should sell the candidate as a promising future educator in the public schools. This paper will be due at the end of the first week of spring semester classes.

Submit your paper digitally on Canvas, under Assignments, to the First Qualifying Paper assignment.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: PRAXIS ACADEMIC CORE TEST

IF NOT EXEMPT, MUST BE PASSED BY END OF SOPH YEAR**

Unless exempted by Teacher Education, candidates must register for the Praxis® Core Academic Skills for Educators \(Core\) (Test 5751) early in the fall semester of the sophomore year. Transfer students should take the exam no later than their second semester on campus. Test scores must be available before a student may be admitted into Teacher Education.

In order to register for this Praxis Core exam, visit the ETS Website. As of 2018, testing service fees are $150 for the Combined Subject test ($90 for individual subjects). Additional fees may compound for late registration, so secure a testing site/date as soon as possible. For additional details regarding registration and application deadlines, candidates can obtain a PRAXIS Series Bulletin at the Student Services Waiting Room, 116 School of Education Building. ETS also has very rigid policies regarding personal identification and mobile devices; students are advised to review procedures several times, especially if you have ever changed your name.

Candidates must take the computerized PRAXIS Core tests in Reading, Writing, and Mathematics if their SAT/ACT scores are not high enough to exempt them from the Praxis (see the table below).

Candidates should turn in a photocopy of their score report to Abigail Hart – Art Education Student Service Specialist (abigail.hart@uncg.edu or 256 Music Building). Candidates should keep their original score report.

Help with preparing for the PRAXIS: Core:

The School of Education has several methods of practicing for the Praxis: Core. Students who have significant difficulty earning passing scores on PRAXIS should consult with an advisor in the Office of Student Services concerning the possibility of a State Board of Education waiver of this requirement. A waiver request may be considered in cases where a student: a) has a 3.0 GPA, b) has taken the PRAXIS I at least 3 times, c) earned a 522 total score with a score on one test that is no more than 3 points below passing, and d) can demonstrate extenuating circumstances that impact earning passing scores on all tests.

Required Scores for Praxis Core Exemption:

If SAT was taken after March 2016:

Those that took the SAT after March 2016 will need a total score of 1170 or higher to be exempt from the Praxis. A 600 or higher score on Verbal or a 570 or higher score on Mathematics sections will also exempt an individual from that section.

If SAT was taken before March 2016:

SAT or ACT scores	Praxis I Reading	Praxis I Writing	Praxis I Mathematics
SAT (Verbal and Math) combined total 1100 or ACT composite total 24	EXEMPT	EXEMPT	EXEMPT
SAT (V&M) total < 1100, Verbal 550 or ACT composite total < 24, English 24	EXEMPT	EXEMPT	Must take Praxis: Mathematics and pass with 150 minimum score
SAT (V&M) total < 1100, Math 550 or ACT composite total < 24, Math 24	Must take Praxis: Reading and pass with 156 minimum score	Must take Praxis: Writing and pass with 162 minimum score	EXEMPT
SAT or ACT scores are not high enough to be exempt from Praxis Core	Praxis: Reading - 156 minimum score*	Praxis: Writing - 162 minimum score*	Praxis: Mathematics - 150 minimum score*

* Or have a combined total for Reading, Writing, and Mathematics of 468 or higher.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: NC YOUNG PLAYWRIGHTS FESTIVAL

TARGET for SPRING SEMESTER EACH YEAR**

The North Carolina Young Playwright's Festival (NCYPF) is an annual playwriting event that is hosted by the UNCG Theatre Education Program in partnership with the North Carolina Theatre Arts Educators (NCTAE) organization. NCYPF is a program for students and teachers dedicated to increasing playwriting in the K-12 classroom in North Carolina. It is also an opportunity for students to receive the collaborative, intensive, professional exposure to the world of playwriting that will create lasting memories and highly beneficial experience. While there are several events that happen in conjunction with NCYPF (details can be found here) the festival acts at the culminating event to share award-winning, student written plays. Three high school, one middle school, and one elementary play will be presented as a staged reading that is directed, performed, and discussed by UNCG students. While the THRED program supports and provides several participants to this festival, UNCG Theatre faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students are encouraged to participate as well.

UNCG Theatre Educators are required to block off the Festival date at the beginning of the academic year and prioritize this commitment while scheduling surrounding events. It is expected that all UNCG Theatre Education majors (sans students that are currently in student teaching placements) are present and involved in the production of this festival. Theatre Education majors may be involved in the festival through several different job placements. In the early-to-mid Spring semester, there will be Green Room listserve request for volunteer actors for this event. All Theatre Educators wishing to participate in this event by acting in a staged reading of a student written play should respond to the request for volunteers. All other THRED majors will be assigned to roles such as liaison to student playwrights (and family members), backstage crew, stage management, set up crew, break down crew, etc.

Details for NCYPF will be shared to THRED students during Pedagogy Workshops leading up to the festival. All questions regarding this festival may be directed towards Abigail Hart, NCYPF UNCG Coordinator.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: WEDNESDAY PEDAGOGY WORKSHOP

TARGET EACH SEMESTER**

Theatre Education students are required to attend Wednesday Pedagogy Workshops from 4pm-5:30pm. These workshops seek to bridge the gap between theatre content and the study of teaching (pedagogy).

Students should not schedule coursework or outside commitments on Mondays or Wednesdays from 4pm-5:30 without first getting written permission from the Director of Theatre Education.

There will be an assortment of content that is covered during these meetings such as pedagogical tools, experiential learning, and opportunities to practice teaching strategies. While no course credit is assigned to these workshops, students consistently identify these sessions as an integral supplement to the application of their training.

The best way to stay proactive and prepared for these meetings is to stay attentive to Canvas announcements, arrive early to our meeting space, and keep a log of material covered at these meetings.

During the spring semester, we have traditionally split the body of majors in half, in order to more specifically scaffold the areas-of-practice most needed for each collection of cohorts.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: PRAXIS II THEATRE ARTS SPECIALTY TEST

TARGET registration beginning FALL OF SENIOR YEAR, to achieve passing scores by Student Teaching**

As part of the program-specific requirements for the Teacher Education E-portfolio, students should submit a minimum score of 162 on the Theatre Specialty Area Test \(#5641\) to their Taskstream clinical portfolios during student teaching in the final year.

Registration for the test should take place in the summer before the Methods/Student Teaching year and no later than December 20, in order to secure the proper scores by graduation. Deadlines and testing locations, as well as testing fees can be researched via the ETS website.

As of 2012, there is no computer-delivered test for the Theatre specialty area.

Lateral Entry, Licensure-Only and Second Degree students must also receive passing scores on the test.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION REQUIREMENT: APPLY TO TEACHER EDUCATION

TARGET by SPRING SEMESTER of SOPHOMORE YEAR**

Candidates should apply for secondary admission to Teacher Education at the end of their sophomore year. All candidates must be admitted no later than the first semester of their junior year.

At end of the sophomore year, or upon achieving junior status, students should complete the Teacher Education Application online (after submitting their Praxis: Core scores by email to Abigail Hart abigail.hart@uncg.edu) to apply for formal admission to Teacher Education.

- Students must complete this secondary admission requirement before they are officially categorized as Theatre Education majors.
- Application must be made at least one year prior to the semester in which students plan to student teach.

- Students are not to take more than 50% of the required professional education courses prior to admission to the Teachers Academy.

Note for Transfer Students:

Transfer students should apply to the Teacher Education program when they are admitted to the University, as long as they have completed all General Education Courses (GEC). Transfer students who do not meet all requirements for admission to the Teachers Education program must: complete at least 12 semester hours at UNCG with a GPA of 3.0 or better; earn the required scores on the PRAXIS Core reading, writing, and mathematics tests; and complete School of Theatre program requirements, including field experience hours, auditions, interview, et.al.

Grade Point Average

A 3.0 overall GPA is required. After students are accepted into Teacher Education, the required minimum GPA must be maintained throughout the program of study.

Criminal Background Check

As part of the application process, students must complete a background check. As of 2018, the cost is $23.50. Candidates should be aware that school districts require applicants to disclose all violations of law to the school district, even those that have been expunged. A candidate may be denied a student teaching or internship placement and/or employment based on a history of violations of law. If a candidate does not report a violation to the school district, he/she may be dismissed from his/her position.

Faculty Interview

As part of the application process for admission to Teacher Education, sophomore BFA candidates must successfully complete the annual faculty review, held at the end of each spring semester.

Qualifying Paper

Beginning Fall of 2012, students must also submit a qualifying paper at the beginning of the spring semester of their first year.

Field Experience Requirement

Students must have acquired a minimum of 35 hours of documented pre-student-teaching experience before applying for admission into Teacher Education.

Second Degree Candidates must also be formally admitted to the program by both the School of Education and the Department of Theatre. They are also required to participate in annual faculty reviews at the end of each spring semester.

Praxis: Core Requirement

Unless exempted by Teacher Education, candidates must register for the pre-professional Praxis Core Academic Skills for Educators test early in the fall semester of the sophomore year. Transfer students should take the exam no later than their second semester on campus. Test scores must be available before a student may be admitted into Teacher Education.

In order to register for this Praxis Core exam, visit the ETS Website. As of 2018, testing service fees are $90 per test or $150 for a combined test. Additional fees may compound for late registration, so secure a testing site/date as soon as possible. ETS also has very rigid policies regarding personal identification and mobile devices; students are advised to review procedures several times, especially if you have ever changed your name.

For additional details regarding registration and application deadlines, candidates can obtain a PRAXIS Series Bulletin at the Student Services Waiting Room, 116 School of Education Building.

Candidates must take a computerized PRAXIS Core tests in Reading, Writing, and Mathematics if their SAT/ACT scores are not high enough to exempt them from the Praxis Core (see the table on page 13).

Candidates should submit a copy of their score report in pdf form to Abigail Hart (abigail.hart@uncg.edu). Candidates should keep their original score report.

Upon admission into Teacher Education, students are accountable for all guidelines and regulations within the School of Education's Teacher Education Handbook.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION REQUIREMENT: APPLY FOR STUDENT TEACHING
TARGET WINTER, THE YEAR BEFORE THR 482 (METHODS), NORMALLY JUNIOR YEAR**

THIS IS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT DEADLINES TO MEET DURING YOUR TIME AT UNCG.

Between January 15 and February 15 of the year before students plan to student teach (normally the junior year), students must submit a formal application for student teaching to the Office of Student Services. Students must already be admitted to Teacher Education at least one academic year before they would student teach. For example, a THRED major planning to student teach in the Spring of 2030, must submit this application by February 15, 2029.

The State Board of Education (SBE) policy and Department of Public Instruction (DPI) Program Approval criteria require that candidates be admitted to teacher education one full semester prior to the semester in which they plan to student teach. Failure to meet the application deadline may delay student teaching another year.

Completed forms should be submitted by completed the Google Form linked above that is sent to Carol-Ann Griggs (SoE 136).

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION REQUIREMENT: EDTPA PORTFOLIO

TARGET research during JUNIOR YEAR, to complete-and-pass during Student Teaching**

To receive licensure, student must submit a teaching portfolio that demonstrates student knowledge and skills in not only theatre, but also in technology and teaching pedagogy. The portfolio must be created and submitted through the Taskstream online assessment module.

Students must subscribe to Taskstream no later than mid-term in the fall semester of their senior year, but they may subscribe as early as the second semester of their sophomore year, in order to familiarize themselves with the tools/functionality. The subscription rates are $50 for 1 year.

The edTPA portfolio must be completed and assessed before application for teaching licensure may be processed. Guidance in the compilation of the edTPA portfolio is provided through THR 482 and THR 497, as well through meetings (both group and individual) with the Director of Theatre Education.

Registration fees for edTPA currently stand at $300, though the School of Education is consistently pursuing opportunities for students to apply for vouchers. Dr. Christie Cavanaugh is the current UNCG edTPA coordinator.

The current minimum score for passing edTPA is 38 for Theatre Arts (K-12). It is projected to go up to 40 in 2020-2021.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENT: STUDENT TEACHING

TARGET SPRING OF SENIOR YEAR**

Student Teaching Process

All UNCG Theatre Education students must do their student teaching during their final spring semester. No placements are made for fall semester, therefore any outstanding coursework must be completed during the THR 482 Methods semester, the fall semester prior to student teaching. Appropriate placements are assigned during the fall semester immediately prior to student teaching. Student teaching recommendations are made by the Director of Theatre Education, with the specific strengths and needs of each student teaching candidate in mind. All placements must be made within no more than a forty-five minutes' drive from the UNCG campus, unless special arrangements have been made in advance.

Finding suitable placements for student teachers can be difficult. Until officially notified by the Director of Theatre Education that a placement has been confirmed, students should not contact the school or On-Site Supervising Teacher Educator (OSTE), even if the first day of the student teaching semester has arrived.

Students are not allowed to work during student teaching. Student teaching is a full-time job, trading service for hands-on clinical experience, which is of utmost value in the hiring process for principals. Therefore, students should arrange to work during preceding summers and financially prepare for student teaching, saving money in anticipation of the financial needs that will have to be met during the student teaching semester. Occasionally, a situation will allow a student teacher to work during some weekends, after having obtained special permission, in advance, from the Director of Theatre Education. If any interference with the student teacher's performance results, s/he must resign the weekend job immediately.

Student teaching is the capstone experience and culmination of the Theatre Education program of study. By this point, students have acquired substantial pedagogy, teaching practice, and a rich library of theatre knowledge and techniques, and they are ready to apply it in a K-12 Theatre Arts classroom. In truth, preparation for student teaching begins on "day one" of freshman year. Theatre Education students save materials from all theatre and education courses and organize them as classroom teaching resources. Lesson plans and other resources accumulated in THR 482 Teaching Methods in Theatre Arts lay a strong foundation for the student teaching semester. Student teachers are assigned to one K-12 school for a full spring semester; however, UNCG Theatre faculty, the UNCG Jackson Library, and the Teaching Resource Center are always available as resources for student teachers throughout their experience.

Placement of Student Teachers

Placements for student teaching are not determined until around the middle of the fall semester, prior to the student teaching semester in the spring. Placement is determined after candidates have been clinically observed teaching in K-12 schools during THR 482 Teaching Methods in Theatre Arts. The Director of Theatre Education, who teaches this methods class, determines individual placements based on the observed strengths, areas for continued improvement, and other relevant criteria. A strong effort is made to place students in the most effective, appropriate teaching situation possible. The teaching practice, pedagogy, skills, and dispositions of the cooperating teachers are also factors in making the placement decisions. It is imperative that Theatre Education students are assigned to the best teaching situation possible, based on the resources that are available.

Students may receive notification of the student teaching placement by email from the SoE Office of Student Services. However, the Director of Theatre Education works directly with the School of Education to secure student teaching placements. All questions and concerns regarding placements should be directed to the Director of Theatre Education.

Students SHOULD NOT contact schools directly themselves, even after they have received official notification of their placement from the Office of Student Services. Contact with the school and OSTE must be initiated by the Director of Theatre Education.

When registering for the student teaching semester, students should sign up for THR 497 (Student Teaching in Theatre Arts), a twelve-semester hour credit course). NO OTHER COURSES MAY BE TAKEN DURING STUDENT TEACHING.

On-Site Supervising Teacher Educator (or OSTE)

During student teaching, the cooperating teacher serves as an instructor, a guide, and a mentor to the student teacher. The lines of communication between the student teacher and the OSTE must be open and active. It is also important that the OSTE and the UNCG supervisor are in direct communication throughout the semester. The student teacher should feel comfortable asking questions and advice from both the OSTE and UNCG supervisor. Student teaching is a course; therefore, even as the student teachers are teaching, they are also learning (which includes its own preparation, documentation, and reflective writing).

UNCG Supervising Teacher [may also be called an Institute of Higher Education (IHE) Supervisor]

Usually all supervision of student teachers is done by the Director of Theatre Education. However, in the event of "long distance" placements (an hour or more drive from UNCG) or of a large student teaching class (5 or more), there is a possibility that a second supervising teacher may assist in supervision. Supervision would be carried out in close cooperation with the Director of Theatre Education.

The UNCG Supervising Teacher and Office of Student Services are the student teacher's links to the University. The supervising teacher provides guidance, helping student teachers apply-and-contextualize what they learned in classes at the University.

Student Teaching Journal

Student teachers must keep a journal, beginning from the installation meeting between the student teacher, OSTE, and UNCG supervising teacher, usually during the first seven days of the spring semester. They write about their observations in the school site, including the facilities, administration, faculty, other school staff, and the students. Students should gather official demographics, statistics, and further research the immediate community in which the school resides. Students are encouraged to meet with the principal and assistant principals, to interview them about school rules, the school population, school community, etc. Student teachers should use the journal to process through ideas and assess their teaching; they may also reflect upon emotional reactions they may experience during the student teaching experience.

RECURSIVE MODEL OF STUDENT TEACHING

Student teaching for Theatre Education has transitioned from a previously four-phase linear model to a much more recursive model that is intended to maximize support for both student teacher and the On-site Supervising Teacher Educator. Throughout all stages, OSTE's and pre-service teachers should give attention to classroom management, integration of technology, differentiation of instruction, accommodation for students with special needs and English Language Learners, formative and summative assessment, and 21st century knowledge and skills. The stages that pre-service teachers encounter when following this model are as follows:

Introduction - There will be an introductory meeting with your OSTE and the Director of Theatre Education in which all of us discuss plans, requirements, and expectations for your student teaching semester. You will review the inventory of strengths and challenges you bring to the experience (using an updated version of the list you created during Methods), and you will share the foundation for your teaching portfolio. You may also meet with principals and other faculty or staff members. If you don't have the opportunity to meet with them during this introductory meeting, be sure to introduce yourself during the first week you are in school. Begin to form relationships with the people in your working environment.

Observation (Stage O) – You need to become familiar with the students, the subject area, the OSTE's philosophy and objectives, and the general school organization. During observation, you should work actively with the OSTE in developing observational and monitoring routines as well as discussing goal-setting, instructional planning, assessment strategies, and classroom management. Collaboration between you and the OSTE is essential in order to familiarize you with the clinical teaching situation. Weeks 1-2 (January), Week 13.

Co-Planning and Co-Teaching with OSTE as Lead (Stage 1) – Through collaborative planning in which the OSTE takes the lead in determining the lesson goals, objectives, activities, anticipated outcomes, and assessment measures, you should work actively with the OSTE to determine how lessons will be delivered and your role in this lesson delivery. Strategies for co-teaching may include the OSTE delivering whole group instruction while you support individuals throughout the room or conducts a focused observation of the students; team teaching in which the teachers jointly provide instruction; parallel teaching in which each teacher teaches the same lesson to one half of the class; or guided small-group instruction. Weeks 2-3 (late January/early February), Week 12.

Planning/Teaching for One-on-One/Small Group (Stage 2) – Initial teaching responsibility should be delegated to student teacher when she/he becomes reasonably well acquainted with the students in the class and the learning environment. It is important that you be as successful as possible during these “phase-in” and “phase out” weeks. During this period you should be working actively with the OSTE in developing skills in goal-setting, instructional planning, assessment, and classroom management. As you gain ability and confidence, the extent of your participation in actual teaching should increase according to your ability and may progress from one-on-one work with students to providing small-group instruction. Again, collaboration between you and the OSTE is essential for a successful clinical teaching experience. Weeks 3-4 (early February), Weeks 11-12.

Planning/Teaching for Lesson Segments to the Whole Group (Stage 3) – With the support of the OSTE, you should be further integrated into the whole-class instruction by involving yourself in the planning and instruction of certain segments of the lesson. While the OSTE maintains primary responsibility for instruction, you may perform pre-identified duties in regards to lesson planning and instructional delivery to the whole group. Weeks 4-6 (February), Weeks 11-12. Informal lesson procedures should be uploaded to the GDrive for all of stage 3.

Co-Planning and Co-Teaching with Pre-Service Teacher as Lead (Stage 4) – Through collaborative planning, you take the lead in determining the lesson goals, objectives, activities, anticipated outcomes, and assessment measures, you should work actively with the OSTE to determine how lessons will be delivered and the OSTE's role in this lesson delivery. Strategies for co-teaching may include you delivering whole group instruction while the OSTE supports individuals throughout the room or conducts a focused observation of the students, team teaching in which the teachers jointly provide instruction, parallel teaching in which each teacher teaches the same lesson to one half of the class, or guided small-group instruction. Weeks 4-7 (February), Weeks 10-12 (April) Full formal lesson plans should be uploaded to the GDrive for all of stage 4.

Independent Planning and Delivery of Whole Units (Stage 5) – You perform all of the activities of a full time teacher (although the legal authority for student learning, behavior and safety remains with the OSTE). The student teacher performs all duties related to teaching, including planning and directing instruction, managing teaching and learning materials, constructing and administering tests, evaluating student activities and products, reporting, implementation of classroom management, and other teaching-related activities. This may include working as the lead teacher or as a co-teacher with the OSTE. This is the culmination of the student teacher's progress through the teacher education curriculum and provides the opportunity for the student teacher to demonstrate her/his professional competence. (An easy way to think of Stage 5 is all periods at Stage 4). At UNCG, the expectation is that all student teachers will assume full planning and teaching responsibility for at least one full unit of instruction. Weeks 7-10 (March)

Clinical Observations

A minimum of five observations will occur during student teaching. Additional observations may occur according to the individual needs of the student teacher and his/her student teaching situation.

OSTEs will continually observe their student teachers throughout the semester. They will complete a midterm evaluation in which strengths and areas for continued improvement are listed. The OSTEs will share their lists and comments with their student teachers regularly. This evaluation will be the basis for the Certificate of Teaching Capacity, which will be uploaded to a candidate's e-portfolio.

Throughout the observations, the UNCG Supervising Teacher will complete three formal Teacher Candidate Evaluations (TCE). The supervising teacher will consult with the cooperating teacher for all TCE ratings. A meeting with the student teacher follows. The TCE form is signed by the student teacher, the cooperating teacher, and the supervising teacher. All three reports are uploaded to a candidate's e-portfolio.

Seminar Meetings

Student teachers will meet with the UNCG Supervising Teacher every two to three weeks in a two to two-and-a-half hour seminar session held at a location TBA. These meetings are a necessary and mandatory part of Student Teaching. The information, networking, and support gained through these seminar sessions are integral to the student teaching experience. Student teaching often causes students to feel somewhat isolated, so these sessions are helpful in alleviating any anxiety student teachers may sometimes experience. All student teachers must attend these meetings. In the case of long-distance placements, meetings may occur via video conferencing.

UNCG Policies for Student Teachers

*Full policies can be found in the Teacher Education Handbook. Some of that information includes:

TRANSPORTATION

Student teachers are responsible for providing their own transportation to-and-from their assigned schools.

EXPENSES

A student teaching fee will be added to tuition for the final semester, when registering for THR 497. Students are individually responsible for expenses incurred in the student teaching phase of the teacher education program. Expenses which should be anticipated are:

1. Daily travel.
2. Subsistence while living away from the university campus.

REIMBURSEMENT OF CAMPUS HOUSING FEE RESULTING FROM ASSIGNMENT OUTSIDE THE GREATER GREENSBORO AREA

Student teachers under the block placement system may arrange for off-campus housing during their student teaching assignments. Students who move out of their rooms in campus housing are entitled to a pro rated refund for room and board based on the remaining weeks in the semester at the time the dormitory is vacated and a meal card is surrendered provided that:

1. The student teacher will express their intention of choosing this alternative prior to leaving campus.
2. The student teacher check with Residence Life to follow the proper procedures for obtaining a refund for housing.

HONOR POLICY

Students with off-campus assignments are still subject to the University Honor Policy.

ILLNESS AND OTHER EMERGENCIES

During the initial interview with the principal and OSTE, the student teacher should learn the policy for notification preferred by that particular school or school system. Following the policy, the student teacher should notify the OSTE AND THE UNIVERSITY

SUPERVISOR as soon as possible regarding illness or other emergencies. The UNCG supervising teacher should be notified both by email and by telephone AFTER the OSTE has been contacted.

ATTENDANCE AND EXTENDED ABSENCE

Absence from the student teaching assignment is permitted only in cases of serious illness or emergency. Absences exceeding five days must be made up before the student can be given credit for the course. Student teachers are not expected to make up days when the days are missed due to school closing because of inclement weather or other emergency situations if such makeup days would require extending student teaching beyond the last day of the University's examination period for the semester.

WITHDRAWAL FROM STUDENT TEACHING

When circumstances are such that withdrawal from a student teaching assignment is necessary, whether because of illness or upon the written request of the principal or the university supervisor, university policy and procedures regarding withdrawal from a course shall be applicable. A request for withdrawal must be approved by the Director of Student Services in Teacher Education.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES FOR THE STUDENT TEACHER DURING STUDENT TEACHING

Student teaching is a full time commitment; hence, Teacher Education strongly recommends that students should have no other major obligation during this period. Students may be required to withdraw from student teaching if the supervising teacher determines their performance is being affected by outside activities.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION STATEMENT

The University of North Carolina - Greensboro does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, creed, or national origin.

LENGTH OF STUDENT TEACHING EXPERIENCE

The student teaching experience varies in length from 13 weeks to 16 weeks, depending upon the student teaching situation and on the individual needs of the student teacher. Theatre Education majors are usually required to complete 15 weeks of student teaching. Students should ideally experience 8 weeks of full control within the complete teaching load of classes.

The general pattern is that student teaching assignments for each semester are scheduled to begin not earlier than the University calendar date when "Instruction Begins," and end not later than the last day of "Final Examinations," as shown on the University calendar. Provision is made, however, for experimental or innovative programs which require a different time schedule.

STUDENT TEACHING AND SUBSTITUTE TEACHING

All requests for student teachers should be made by the Director of Theatre Education to the Director of Student Services. Approval to substitute teach is granted in alignment with the following guidelines:

The candidate must have completed the substitute teaching application process required by the schools and school district and must have the approval of the university supervisor.

- For short term substitute teaching (1-3 days):
 1. The candidate may email or otherwise contact his/her university supervisor for approval. The supervisor will inform the Director of Student Services.
 2. The candidate may substitute only for his/her cooperating teacher.
- For long term substitute teaching (more than 3 days)
 1. The candidate must obtain a letter of approval signed by the principal, cooperating teacher and university supervisor and forward this letter to the School of Education Office of Student Services;
 2. The candidate must successfully complete any training and paperwork that is required by the school district for substitute teachers;
 3. The candidate must obtain written guarantees of continued university and on-site supervision in the substitute teaching position with a minimum of five observations;
 4. The university supervisor must forward all letters of approval, support and guarantees regarding supervision to the Director of Student Services for final approval;
 5. The candidate must remain enrolled in the student teaching course;
 6. The candidate must successfully complete all licensure program requirements, including the teaching portfolio; and
 7. At the end of the student teaching course, all evaluations and forms that are required for candidates must be completed and submitted to the Teachers Academy.
- Candidates are discouraged from substitute teaching that would interfere with the quality of their student teaching experience or other university responsibilities.

GRADING

Unless notified in writing from the department chair (or his/her designate), grades of "C" or higher in student teaching will be accepted as meeting requirements for initial teaching licensure. If all other departmental and licensure requirements are completed, the Office of Student Services will recommend the student-in-question for initial teaching licensure.

The rationale for accepting a "C" grade is based on the definition of C found in the UNCG Undergraduate Bulletin: C = Average. "C" indicates the acceptable standard for graduation from UNCG. It involves such quality and quantity of work as may fairly be expected of a student of normal ability who gives to the course a reasonable amount of time, effort, and attention.

Such acceptable standards should include the following factors:

1. Familiarity with the content of the course
2. Familiarity with the methods of study of the course
3. Full participation in the class
4. Ability to write about the subject in intelligible English.

EDTPA PORTFOLIO

To receive licensure, student must submit a teaching portfolio that demonstrates student knowledge and skills in not only theatre, but also in technology and teaching pedagogy. The portfolio must be created and submitted through the Taskstream online assessment module.

Students must subscribe to Taskstream no later than mid-term in the fall semester of their senior year, but they may subscribe as early as the second semester of their sophomore year, in order to familiarize themselves with the tools/functionality. The subscription rates are $50 for 1 year.

The edTPA portfolio must be completed and assessed before application for teaching licensure may be processed. Guidance in the compilation of the edTPA portfolio is provided through THR 482 and THR 497, as well through meetings (both group and individual) with the Director of Theatre Education.

The current minimum score for passing edTPA is 38 for Theatre Arts (K-12). It is projected to go up to 40 in 2020-2021.

PRAXIS II: SPECIALITY AREA TEST

As part of the program-specific requirements for the Teacher Education E-portfolio, students should submit a minimum score of 162 on the Theatre Specialty Area Test \(#5641\) to their Taskstream clinical portfolios, along with their TCE and CDAP reports

Registration for the test should take place in the summer before the Methods/Student Teaching year and no later than December 20, in order to secure the proper scores by graduation. Deadlines and testing locations, as well as testing fees can be researched via the ETS website.

As of 2012, there is no computer-delivered test for the Theatre specialty area.

Residential Entry, Licensure-Only and Second Degree students must also receive passing scores on the test.

APPLICATION FOR LICENSURE

In early April of the Student Teaching semester, after receiving passing edTPA scores, students should apply for Undergraduate Teacher Licensure. There is a $55 fee associated with the application. If the application is approved, it will be sent to NCDPI to process the license, which takes a minimum of 60 days.

JOB PLACEMENT

While job recruitment strategies will be practiced during Methods and Student Teaching, students should contact the Office of Career Services for resources toward applying for teaching jobs during their final semesters. Within their website are a great many announcements on job fairs, résumés, interviews, etc.

ADDITIONAL CREDENTIALING COSTS ASSOCIATED WITH PURSUING THE BFA CONCENTRATION IN THEATRE EDUCATION (WITH K-12 LICENSURE): Professional Liability Insurance $56 ($14 annually over 4 years)

Acquired through the Office of Institutional Risk Management, UNCG has procured a University Student Intern Liability Policy, ("Insurance Policy") which is intended to protect students, while in performance of course activity, from liability claims for actions or alleged actions from third parties that arise during the course of the course-required Internships or Practicum.

Criminal Background Check $23.50

[one time out-of-pocket through Background Investigation Bureau (BIB)]

Must be completed prior to a student visiting any classroom/agency. Students pay this fee out-of-pocket.

Praxis Core $150 for comprehensive (or $90 for individual 3 tests)

[out-of-pocket through Educational Testing Service (ETS) Praxis® Core Academic Skills for Educators (Core) tests measure academic skills in reading, writing and mathematics. These tests were designed to provide comprehensive assessments that measure the skills and content knowledge of candidates entering teacher preparation programs. Students pay this fee out-of-pocket.

Praxis II: Theatre Arts Specialty Area Exam $120

Individuals entering the teaching profession take the Praxis Subject Assessments tests as part of the teacher licensing and certification process required by many states. Some professional associations and organizations require Praxis Subject Assessments as a criterion for professional licensing decisions.

All Theatre Education majors are required to score a minimum of 162 points to be recommended for licensure.

Students pay this fee out-of-pocket.

Student Teaching Fee $250

Billed to a student teacher's account during their student semester, this fee covers the overhead of costs associated with public school partners. The State of NC used to underwrite this fee, prior to 2012. Now the students absorb it as part of their investment. There are no plans to return to the fee to the State.

NCTAE dues $15

The leading teacher organization cuts UNCG Theatre Education a great deal by waiving the $50 registration fee for their annual Fall Sharing Event (which the THR 482 Methods class attends every year). All they ask is that student teachers pay the annual dues to attend the full event.

Students pay this fee out-of-pocket.

Taskstream $50

Like many UNC schools, UNCG School of Education uses Taskstream (recently acquired by Watermark), a commercial electronic portfolio service, to collect work created over the course of your program of study. Taskstream is used to collect specific artifacts students create in their classes, field placements, and student teaching or internship placements. These artifacts are required by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction (NCDPI) and are used as evidence to show that you are qualified to receive licensure to teach in North Carolina. These artifacts will be used to create electronic files that are submitted to both state and national accreditation agencies to show that graduates from the UNCP Teacher Education Program are proficient in all areas required for teacher licensure.

Taskstream recently changed its minimum enrollment option to 1-year at 49.99, as opposed to the 6-month subrate of 29.99 before 2018.

Taskstream is the platform on which students load their EdTPA summative portfolios and also serves as the School of Education's data collection service.

Students pay this fee out-of-pocket.

EdTPA $300

“edTPA is a performance-based, subject-specific assessment and support system used by teacher preparation programs throughout the United States to emphasize, measure and support the skills and knowledge that all teachers need from Day 1 in the classroom. Aspiring teachers must prepare a portfolio of materials during their student teaching clinical experience. edTPA requires aspiring teachers to demonstrate readiness to teach through lesson plans designed to support their students' strengths and needs; engage real students in ambitious learning; analyze whether their students are learning, and adjust their instruction to become more effective. Teacher candidates submit unedited video recordings of themselves at work in a real classroom as part of a portfolio that is scored by highly trained educators. “

Billed to their account during student teaching, all UNCG education majors are required to submit an edTPA portfolio to qualify for program completion and state teaching licensure.

It should be noted that all of these fees do not include travel costs for students to earn their required 100 hours of field experience within the public school system, often working at schools located as far as thirty miles away. It also does not include the $70 non-refundable processing fee that NCDPI charges to process their application for teaching licensure, or the $10.50 charge for securing their official UNCG transcript (which is required for applying for licensure).

The Office of Theatre Education maintains an up-to-date version of this handbook on Canvas, for enrolled students. This print version will not be updated as frequently as the Canvas version, so some information may have changed since the last printing. Please contact the Director of Theatre Education if you have any questions regarding the content of this handbook.
